Notes Offering by Gartner, Inc.

On June 18, 2020, Gartner, Inc. (“Gartner”) issued a press release announcing that it has commenced an offering of $500 million aggregate principal amount of its Senior Notes due 2028 (the “Notes”) in a transaction exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the “Securities Act”). A copy of the press release is furnished as Exhibit 99.1 to this report. Gartner intends to use the net proceeds from the offering of the Notes, together with cash on hand, (i) to repay a portion of the outstanding borrowings under the term loan A facility, (ii) repay all outstanding borrowings under the existing revolving credit facility, each under Gartner’s senior secured credit facility, and (iii) pay related fees and expenses. This report does not constitute an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy the Notes. There can be no assurance that the proposed offering of Notes will be completed.

The Notes will be sold only to persons reasonably believed to be qualified institutional buyers in accordance with Rule 144A under the Securities Act and outside the United States only to non-U.S. persons in accordance with Regulation S under the Securities Act. The Notes have not been registered under the Securities Act or the securities laws of any other jurisdiction and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration or an applicable exemption from registration requirements.

Recent Developments

In connection with the offering of the Notes, Gartner is providing prospective purchasers with an offering memorandum, which includes a description of recent developments. Gartner previously provided an update on the impact of the novel coronavirus disease (“COVID-19”) pandemic on its business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows in its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the three months ended March 31, 2020. Impacts during the first quarter of 2020 included, among others, the closure of Gartner offices across the globe and reduced revenues, in particular as a result of cancelled conferences. In April, Gartner implemented workforce reductions in its Conference segment.

Since Gartner reported its financial results for the three months ended March 31, 2020, it has continued to experience negative impacts on all of its segments due to the COVID-19 pandemic, with the Conferences segment being the most impacted. All conferences have been suspended through August 2020. Conferences may be suspended after that date due to government mandates, health concerns or both. Gartner continues to monitor the rapidly evolving nature of the COVID-19 pandemic and will make determinations about future conferences based on the information available to it. Continued conference suspensions are anticipated to result in reduced revenues, as well as costs relating to workforce reductions and cancellation costs. Gartner’s other segments may also continue to experience reduced demand, decreased revenues and/or lower business growth and retention rates as a result of the pandemic.

As noted in Gartner’s Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the three months ended March 31, 2020, on April 1, 2020, it drew down an additional $300 million under its revolving credit facility to increase its cash position and preserve financial flexibility in light of uncertainty in the global market. Gartner repaid $300 million of the revolving credit facility on May 29, 2020 with cash on hand.

The uncertainty surrounding the COVID-19 pandemic has created disruption for Gartner’s business, its customers and for the global economy as a whole. The ultimate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on Gartner’s business will depend on many factors that are beyond its knowledge and control.
